

JOE'S SCISSORS SQUEEZE CUTLER

Nebraska Wrestler Crushes Cutler in Nineteen and Seven Minutes.

BIG HOUSE TO WITNESS

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 1.—(Special Telegram.)—Whatever chance Charlie Cutler of Chicago thought he had of defeating Joe Stecher, the Nebraska wrestling marvel, went glimmering last night. It took Stecher less than half an hour to so decisively defeat the Chicagoan that Cutler, with a pained expression, left the ring as badly beaten as any wrestler ever was.

The Nebraskan's famous body scissors with a half-Nelson as accessory accomplished the downfall of Cutler, not only in the first fall, but in the second. Cutler's shoulders were not pinned to the canvas for the second fall. It was not necessary for the powerful legs of Stecher to crush his sides to a point that brought suffering to Charlie, and he gave up, conceding the victory to his opponent. The first fall went to Stecher in 19:40, by the body scissors and half-Nelson grip. The second session lasted only seven minutes and twenty-four seconds when Cutler ended his own suffering by conceding his defeat.

It was estimated—official figures were not given out—that the crowd numbered over 5,000 and that the house was worth about $7,500. Practically the entire balcony, where seats sold for $1, was occupied. The higher-priced seats on the main floor were well filled. The prices were $1, $2 and $3.

The elite of wrestling fandom was on hand for their favorite doings, and conspicuous among the ringsiders was Assistant Chief of Police Schuetler, who is a thirty-third degree fan if there ever was one. Clarence Rowland, manager of the White Sox, forgot base ball for the night, occupying a ringside seat. Many celebrated in other sports were present.

Creighton May Yet Settle With Dubuque

There is a prospect that Creighton may play a post-season game with Dubuque college, which played a 6-6 game with the Blue and White October 22. Coach Mills has sent a challenge to the Catholic school to play any time until a week from Saturday. It is said that none of the Creighton men will be released from training until the matter is settled, and this will preclude their playing in any all-star eleven that may be in the making for post-season contests.

MOSELEY MAY BE NEXT YALE CAPTAIN.

MOSELEY OF YALE

While Captain Black of the Eli squad acquitted himself with a full share of honor throughout the season and in the Yale-Harvard game, it is improbable that he will again hold that position of command, should he return to Yale next year. It is against Yale precedent for a winning captain to accept re-election. In the event Black is not re-elected, George Moseley, the leftend, is considered a likely candidate for the post. Gates and Baldridge, the two tackles, are also considered possibilities.

St. Mary's Trims Doane, Twenty-Seven to Seven

Manhattan, Kan., Dec. 1.—(Special Telegram.)—In a fast, well-played game St. Mary's defeated Doane college, 27 to 7. It was a fast, clean game throughout, being much closer than the score would indicate. Lane, St. Mary's fleet halfback, broke through for two of St. Mary's touchdowns. Doane was much lighter than the St. Mary's team. Chickone gained almost at will through the line during the first half. He also made two touchdowns.

Edgar and Hebron Draw. Edgar, Neb., Dec. 1.—The Edgar and Hebron high school football teams played a draw game here yesterday afternoon. The two teams are fairly well matched and both have played winning football this season. It seemed to onlookers that the Hebron team had the Edgar eleven outclassed, but the fighting grit of the home team evened matters up. Only once was either goal threatened and that was when Hebron carried the ball within ten yards and were then held for downs. Referee, Ed. of Grand Island.

Nebraska All-Star Five Plays Champs At Y. M. C. A. Tonight

To raise funds to defray expenses of the three Omaha basketball leagues, a benefit conflict will be staged at the Omaha Young Men's Christian Association tonight between the Brandeis quintet, champions of Omaha last year, and the Nebraska All-Stars, consisting of Dick Rutherford, Les Mann, Max Towle, Hiltner and other greats of the past and present.

The All-Star quintet has been playing together for three years now and it plays some basket ball. The Brandeis five will give Omaha floor fans their first view of Virg Rector, former Central High crack, who was a star on the Dartmouth team for three years. Rector will play at center. The Brandeis have heretofore been weak at center, and with Rector in the lineup it is believed the team is fully 50 per cent stronger, which means that a merry battle will be waged when these two fives clash tonight.
